

War News Summary.

The British admiralty today confirmed reports of the sinking of two German submarines, the U-8, which the French admiralty previously had announced had been destroyed by a torpedo boat, and an unidentified submarine rammed by the collier Thor.

The captain of the American steamer Gulfport, arriving at Weimar, Germany, is reported to have written papers to have said he witnessed the destruction of two steamers by a German submarine.

The first report of definite effect of American trade against British retaliatory policy against Germany comes from Bremen. It is said that several American vessels which had been taken on cargoes of German goods, particularly dye stuffs, unloaded these cargoes and will return to the United States in ballast.

Although the assault of the allied fleet on the Dardanelles is continuing, there is such confusion of reports that it is impossible to gain a clear idea of what has been accomplished. The Turkish authorities admit slight damage to outer forts but state that the defense on which the allied fleet is placed are still intact. The allied report the allied fleet has penetrated well into the strait and that inner fortifications have been damaged badly.

While the Anglo-French fleet is striking at the Dardanelles, the Russian Black Sea fleet with attack the approaches to Constantinople on the east, according to unofficial advice from Bucharest. The Russian fleet is said to be off the Bosphorus coast steaming toward the Bosphorus.

The official German report today says that the French left more than 1,000 dead before the German entanglements as a result of several attacks made yesterday along the west front.

In the eastern campaign the Russian offensive continues without definite results.

Other news dispatches reaching London set forth that in the south the Austrians and Hungarians continue to fling themselves with great bravery and even greater losses against the Russian line. The onslaughts have not yet abated. The Russian general staff declares they have brought no gains. The German contingent in the Carpathians has been reduced to three army corps, according to reports reaching London, which leaves the Austro-Hungarians to bear the brunt of the fighting.

In can be said from the British point of view the situation today, wherever fighting is going on, is taken as favorable to the allies. The South African rebellion has been crushed. The Turkish invasion of Egypt has been abandoned. Reports from the eastern battle front are favorable.

No adverse news concerning the operations against the Dardanelles has been received and the blockade of foodstuffs on Germany is about to be enforced. In the western arena of the war the German and British dispatches reaching here are fighting hard to recover the ground they have lost during the last fortnight. The German army is advancing ahead somewhat, but the allies report progress both in the Champagne and Argonne districts.

WANTS DEPARTMENT ON ARCHITECTURE. Senator Hanson Sees Economy in Creating Department of Architectural Engineering. Madison, Wis., March 5.—A state architectural and engineering department that will supervise and inspect all of the architectural and engineering work of the normal schools, universities and state colleges, and a meeting of the senate state affairs committee yesterday afternoon by Senator Frank Hanson. He declared that he had compiled figures showing that the state is spending $255,000 in a single year by the state for engineering and architectural work and he added he had no doubt that a complete investigation would show that upwards of $250,000 was spent for his service. He would have all of the architectural work of the state board of control, state board of agricultural, the engineering work of the railroad, tax and highway commissions, and the surveying work on the state forestry lands done under the supervision of a state architect, whose salary would be $3,500 a year and an assistant at $3,000 a year. He believed that it would effect a great saving for the state.

'FRISCO'S FINANCIAL CONDITION IS BARED

Receiver of Railroad Testified at Rate Boost Inquiry—Missouri Pacific Also Considered.

Chicago, March 5.—Financial conditions of the Missouri Pacific railroad and the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, such as pertain to their request for increased freight rates, were bared today in the argument before Commissioner W. M. Daniels in the application of 41 western railroads to the interstate commerce commission to enforce higher rates. The financial conditions were bared by B. F. Bush, president of the Missouri Pacific, and James W. Lust, one of the receivers of the St. Louis & San Francisco. The general argument on behalf of the railroads was conducted on Monday. After that the special commodities on which the rates were to be increased were taken up in detail, beginning March 3 when evidence of opposing shippers will begin.

Service Demands Cut Revenue. That the railroads throughout the west must be permitted to earn more if they are to keep pace with public demand for increased service was the substance of the testimony given before the interstate commerce commission. W. M. Daniels today in the hearing of the forty-one railroads for increased rates.

Mr. Melton, president of the Chicago and Great Western railroad, resumed his testimony under cross examination by Clifford Thorne, representing the shippers. The examination was a comparison of the rates for various years of the road, mile of hauling freight and revenue of the road on mileage basis.

Mr. Melton said that the mileage income of his road was decreasing. He pointed out that while improved methods had reduced expense in one division, increased efficiency demanded responsibilities on the road.

"Do you think the western railroads have got to be guaranteed a six per cent profit on their organization?" asked Mr. Thorne.

The road certainly should be assured a reasonable profit," replied Mr. Melton.

TWO GERMAN SUBMARINES SENT DOWN

BRITISH COLLIER RUNS UNDER SEA CRAFT SENDING IT TO BOTTOM—U-S ALSO WRECKED.

London, March 5.—Two German submarines have been sunk in British waters, according to official announcement given out in London today. The text of the statement is as follows:

"The secretary of the admiralty makes the following statement: The steamship Thoridis has been examined in dry dock and injuries to her keel and propeller, caused by evidence of Captain Bell and the crew that on the 28th of February the vessel rammed and in all probability sank a German submarine which had fired a torpedo at her.

The official news bureau today confirmed the report that the British steamer collier Thoridis had rammed a German submarine and sent it to the bottom.

News dispatches received from Paris and London in the last twelve hours have related the sinking of two German submarines. The one was described as the U-8 and the other has not been definitely identified.

The French minister of marine announced last night that a German submarine had been sunk by French torpedo boat destroyers and the crew taken prisoners. This submarine the French authorities called the U-8.

The British sinker collier Thoridis while making her way recently from Blyth to Plymouth sighted a submarine. The under sea boat fired a torpedo which struck the collier, but the captain of the British ship succeeded in dodging the missile and then drove his vessel at the periscope showing above the surface of the water. He claims to have sunk and sent her to the bottom. His contention was supported by his mate and members of his crew and now it is accepted as correct by the British naval authorities.

Dover, March 5.—One of the U-8 numbering 29, was landed at Dover today and was taken to Dover under an armed escort.

The U-8, which was the latest German submarine, had displaced under water being only 300 tons.

Sees Freighters Destroyed. Bremen, March 5.—Destruction of two freighters by torpedoes in the English channel was witnessed by the captain of the American tank steamer Goldlight, from Galveston, Texas, which arrived in Bremen, which arrived in the Weser Thursday morning with a cargo of cotton, according to a story printed in the Morgen Post. The captain is quoted by the newspaper as saying that the collier was attacked by a submarine. One of the freighters was sunk by the submarine. The other was damaged and was being towed to a port of refuge.

Ships on Wrong Course. Washington, March 5.—Commander Gage's report on the investigation of the sinking of the American cotton steamers Carib and Evelyn by mines in the North Sea, received today from Berlin said: "Both boats were sunk by mines, due to faulty directions given by the British. Boats simply ran on mine field."

It has been said that the ships were on a course, furnished by the German authorities and British officials. German foreign office has informed Ambassador Gerard that the men of the Evelyn's crew have sailed for Bremen for American and 21 are to return to New York on two other steamers. Two Norwegians from the Carib are expected to remain in Bremen, but the remainder, including the captain, left Bremen Wednesday for Rotterdam.

NEW BRITISH PENSION PLAN WILL COST MANY MILLIONS. London, March 5.—The new British pension plan will cost the Government nearly $1,725,000,000 before the first pension is paid, according to actuaries employed by the government committee which prepared the plan at the order of the House of Commons.

The maximum expenditure the first year, the committee reports, will be about $280,000,000, and the cost during the first year after the war will reach $400,000,000.

These figures are based on an army of three million men, an average of twelve per cent of deaths with twelve per cent of disability.

Buying Public Confidence. One of the largest construction companies in the world is a constant newspaper advertiser.

Not one person in 50,000 who reads its advertising is a possible customer.

Yet it has made it pay big. It has made its name stand for confidence.

It has put itself in a position where every one likely to embark in a building enterprise is going to give it consideration.

To reach the one man in 50,000 the company is after, is a task readily performed by newspaper advertising.

THE NEW WASH. GOODS.

We have been buying every day for the past month large shipments of the "latest word" in wash fabrics—the most charming array we have ever shown. We buy direct from the mills in quantities large enough to entitle us to the very lowest prices. It's the Big Store's way and accounts for much of our success. Buying in smaller lots means higher prices for the merchant and less profit in order to meet competition. This store has gone forward from year to year and today we take pardonable pride in having built up this business to the point of being the largest exclusive dry goods, garment and carpet house in the world. Our buying organization is as good as the best and we know of big stores in much larger cities that are buying on as close a basis as we are. Much depends on good buying. Always feel free to call just to get posted. Servants the people.

SURE WAY TO GET RID OF DANDRUFF

End Itching Scalp and Stop Falling Hair—At Once.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of dandruff, no matter how much dandruff you may have.
You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be softer, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.
If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. Not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody knows it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

The Public Are Anxiously Awaiting the Opening Of This New Store

Every Day Inquiries Are Made of Us Regarding Just What Day the Opening Will Be Held On.

There are so many things to do, so many little details to attend to, so many different items to look after that it is hard to answer the question which is asked us almost daily: "On just what day will The Golden Eagle be open?" All we can say now is that we will try and make it some day between March 11th and March 15th, and that the opening will be announced through The Gazette.

Yesterday we had the pleasure of conducting one lady through our stock room. Her conversation was generously punctuated with

"Ohs" and "Ahs" and other expressions of delight at what she saw there. She said further, "What a shame it is that this store cannot be opened today so that the people could see and take pleasure in seeing these most beautiful things."

A traveling man, one of those wide-awake fellows who knows what's what in the line of stores, merchandise, store service and those other things that go to make a high class business venture, was in to visit us yesterday. He had nothing but praise for this new venture. He predicted that we would win out in a big way, because as he stated it "Your proposition is basically right. You have a good location, I can see that you will handle nothing but the best grade of merchandise and it looks to me as though your service will be of a high order. You deserve to win out and I wish you success."

We are keeping the express train brings a great many packages labeled with our name. These contain the newest things our buyer has been able to pick up in

TURKEY AND GERMANY.

With the allied fleets hammering at the gateway to Constantinople, the forts of the famous Dardanelles crumbling beneath the shower of lead, the question of why Turkey is involved in the present war is still debatable. The Wall Street Journal says that of the long series of tragic mistakes in German diplomacy, none has had more tremendous consequences, or developed wider possibilities, than the forcible introduction of Turkey into the war. Not one of the anticipated advantages matured. The failure to sow seeds of discord between Russia and Great Britain was emphasized by Sir Edward Grey's speech of last week, where the Russian ambition of a century and a half was conceded.

And the expected effect upon the Mohammedan subjects of Great Britain and France, to say nothing of Russia, proved illusory. In this, as in many other matters, the intelligence department of Berlin secured the information that was thought could be acceptable. What it failed to secure was intelligence. The consequence with Turkey has been the prospective settlement of the Eastern question in a simpler fashion than statesmanship could have anticipated. Not only Turkey, but Germany, the world's chief mischief-maker, is eliminated. What this means to Germany, in the loss of its dominance at Constantinople and its strategic railroad connections in Asia Minor, can hardly be exaggerated.

In another respect, and a vital one, the German war machine misjudged. The Dardanelles were considered impregnable. Mines and modern Krupp guns were to defy the allies' fleet. But before the modern French and British armaments the forts of those narrow straits have crumbled into a distinguishable ruin, even as Namur fell before the 42 centimeter guns of the Germans. The occupation of Gallipoli may be expected at any time, and the fall of Constantinople is only a question of weeks, and perhaps even of days. With it vanishes the Turkish empire in Europe.

What was the unsound principle at the bottom of a diplomacy which could make such appallingly costly blunders? Was it not that the policy of keeping one's neighbors in hot water, in the hope of profiting by their differences, was fundamentally unsound? Each was alienated in turn, until finally they combined against the chief disturbing cause, leaving Germany with but two allies, each a source of weakness and not of strength.

The lesson for the world is that an international "neighbor" is what the word implies. It pays to keep on good terms with him, to state the matter on its lowest plane. The prosperity of every nation is bound up in that of every other nation with whom it does business. Trade competition is not warfare, but exchange. Prosperity lies in the co-operation of great mercantile peoples. German diplomacy absolutely failed to grasp a truth fundamental to the English speaking races. She has just begun to pay the price which Fate exacts for ignorance.

CONGRESS ADJOURNED.

The Sixty-third Congress has passed into the realms of yesterdays. After a continuous session of two years it quietly passed out of existence when the great clock struck twelve on Thursday. The first democratic congress since 1895 it has accomplished much in the way of reform. Some of most doubtful character, but much of it constructive. The Underwood-Simmons tariff act, with the income tax, the federal reserve act, anti-trust laws to supplement the Sherman act, the repeal of the Panama canal tolls for coastwise shipping, appropriating thirty-five millions to build a railroad in Alaska, the special internal revenue tax, passed to make up the deficiency in the treasury due to the new tariff bill, and other measures of like importance. The last congress was entirely under the domination of President Wilson. He suggested; they created. He held them to the task like a school master until they learned the lessons he taught them and recited them perfectly, and while he failed to pass his purchase measure, while the Mexican situation is still a thorn in the side of the nation, still congress did its duty. The next congress will be more difficult to handle. Already the seventeen members representing the interests of Tammany, the powerful New York City democratic organization, has served notice that in view of the fact the president has refused to give them political recognition they will not aid him unless they see fit. With a narrow margin at best to work with, the republicans having gained numerous seats at the last general election, so that the desertion of the Tammany democrats leaves Wilson and his advisors in hard straight. It is not to be expected, however, that much remedy will be administered during the next two years, but it is thought it will pave the way for the legislation that will come when the sixty-fifth congress convenes, which it is expected will be in the hands of the republicans.

Every so often the old tale of the message beneath the stamp on the letter from Germany appears in various parts of the country. It is becoming as common as the old Spanish swindle and the beautiful maiden with a trunk full of bank notes in a prison cell.

Ducks and geese are reported as starting on their northward flight and tourists are reported as flying west. Meanwhile fighting continues in Europe and the non-combatants are flying anywhere they can to get out of the way of the fighting.

Ambitious gardeners have already started their seed boxes and only wait an opportunity to spade up the garden plot and get in the early seeds. As previously remarked the sugar snow must arrive before spring is really here, so best beware.

Either Mexico is much quieter than it has been for some months past or Europe is making more noise at present. At any rate the country south of the Rio Grande is not receiving half the newspaper attention it has in the past.

Now that butter has come down in price the next thing is to obtain enough bread to use it on. With wheat still soaring it is hard to make both the bread and butter meet on mutual ground, to say the least of neutral.

Peaceful citizens with plenty of food on their tables will be able to appreciate better the condition of Europe when the combatants start in on their systematic starving of the non-combatants.

Probably the person who bit off his nose to spite his face also invented the embargo in shipping. Leastwise it would seem as though the two were considered by minds working in a like channel.

In view of Japan's repeated statements of friendship for China the frantic yells of the latter country for aid are anything but pleasing to sensitive residents of Nippon.

Before starting in on a crusade of substitution of corn-bread for wheat-bread it would be safer to lay in a supply of cornmeal, at least enough to last through the summer.

After the war Europe will manage its frontiers on the plan adopted along the United States and Canadian border. It is far safer and much more sane.

War has brought about great improvement in the aeroplane, but the improvement would not have been so marked had it not been for the war.

The country is saved. Congress is not in session. However the Wisconsin legislature is and the water power measure still demands attention.

All the set rules of modern warfare are being violated, regardless of any international consequences or the decisions of the Hague tribunal.

Congress is entitled to thanks for some of the things that it did not do. The land knows it did enough damage as it was.

South American Drink Is Popular

The unquestionable fact that a person can drink all the Maté he desires, be it so much, and not suffer any ill after-effects whatever makes this great South American drink more popular every day. Woodley's Maté is pure and wholesome, refreshing and invigorating, strength giving and health preserving—and it is one of Nature's products, unadulterated, nothing added, nothing taken away. In some South American countries ladies drink ten or twelve cups of Maté a day because it is so good to drink at any time, at meals or between meals, hot or cold, and always quenches thirst, invigorates and refreshes. Woodley's Maté is sold by grocers everywhere. It is inexpensive and easy to prepare. The day's requirements can be made at a single boiling for breakfast and it will hold its peculiar fresh tangy flavor for hours without deterioration.

Bobby Ward, the "Beloit Bear Cat," will have an opportunity of revenge on himself against Young Scotty of Jones Island Monday night, when these featherweights clash at the Elite rink in the semi-windup. Ward met a Waterloo in Scotty in Beloit a year ago, the Jones Islander scoring an easy K. O. in five rounds in the Beloit ring. Ward has improved considerably and his Line City fans hope to see him even affairs up. Scotty has "been going" in good form in recent bouts and should score a knockout. Ritchie Mitchell will appear in the main fight.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES ALL HER LIFE

But Miss Ayres Got a 'Beautiful Complexion' at a Cost of Only $2.00

Nor. 23, 1914.—"All my life my face was covered completely with a mass of pimples, blackheads and blotches. I spent a lot of money on numerous remedies and treatments without success and no relief at all. I tried so many things that I was afraid my case could not be cured. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap seemed to do me good right from the first. I used two jars of Resinol Ointment and some Resinol Soap, the total cost being only $2.00, and this completely cured my case. My skin is without a blemish and I am the possessor of a beautiful complexion." (Signed) Mabel Ayres, Stone Mountain, Va.

6% Mortgages 6%

We have some splendid 6% mortgages for sale. They are on farms in the Northwest, the same class and out of the same localities where we have operated for the last 15 years, during which time we have sold a great many of them right here in Rock County. If these mortgages were not as good as the best we would not continue to take them ourselves, neither would our customers here be buying more of them.

FIRST DEGREE WORK FOR K. C. CANDIDATES GIVEN THIS EVENING

Carroll Council No. 596, Knights of Columbus degree, will exemplify the first degree work to a class of forty-eight local candidates at a meeting to be held this evening at their new club rooms in the Myers block. Following the initiatory ceremonies and business meeting a smoker and social evening will be held. On Sunday a large class including candidates from the surrounding cities, will take the second and third degrees.

NO ONE INJURED IN RUNAWAY YESTERDAY

Dr. Wayne Munn and William Holt escaped injury in a runaway accident on Jackson street yesterday afternoon. A pair of spirited horses driven by Holt got beyond his control and at the corner of Jackson and Rayne streets crashed into a telephone pole. Both animals freed themselves from the buggy and were caught by pedestrians some distance from the scene of the runaway. Some damage was caused to the buggy.

POLITICAL AFFAIRS GET SCANT THOUGHT

Janesville Will Name Supervisors and Three School Commissioners at April Election.

Although the time is drawing close when candidates for the offices which are to be filled at the April election must file their nominations, with but one exception there is not a stir in matters political in Janesville. The primary election will be held on March 23rd. At that time candidates will be nominated for the office of supervisor in each of the five wards, for justice of the peace to succeed Charles Lange, for a term of three years, and four school commissioners will be nominated as follows: School commissioner at large, succeeding S. B. Buckmaster, in the first ward succeeding E. J. Baugerson, in the third ward succeeding S. M. Smith, and in the fifth ward succeeding T. Thayer.

For the office of supervisor it is understood that the present incumbents, Chas. Sykes, first ward, M. P. Richardson, second ward, J. A. Denning, fourth ward, and J. C. Morris, fifth ward, are candidates to succeed themselves. J. P. Cullen in the third ward has declined to serve another term and it is rumored that there will be a contest for the nomination on the republican ticket between E. D. McGowan and R. P. Sarr. Several candidates are expected to run for constable of the Third ward.

Nomination papers for candidates for the above mentioned city offices may be filed as early as Saturday, March 6th, and not later than Thursday, March 18 at the office of the city clerk. In the case of county officers, two of which are to be named at the election in April, county superintendent of schools, member of the county board of education papers must be filed with the city clerk not later than March 20.

Election in the four cities of the county are not entitled to vote for either of the county officials. It is understood that O. D. Antidel, present superintendent, and C. Wesley Boag of Beloit, member of the board whose term expires, are candidates to succeed themselves.

In the townships of the county the entire list of town officers is to be elected as usual.

FAIR CROWD ATTENDED NINTH ANNIVERSARY AT CHURCH LAST EVENING

About one hundred and fifty members of the Cargill Memorial Methodist Episcopal church attended the ninth anniversary of the new building and service evening in the church Sunday school room. An interesting program of numbers was given. Rev. T. D. Williams read the list of those who had passed away during the past year. But five names appeared on the list. Dr. Perry Miller, district superintendent, gave a short discourse that was interesting. Miss Emily Sewell rendered a solo, which was well received. The meeting was commenced at 7:30, and closed shortly before nine.

Made Seventy-five Calls: Representatives of the Associated Charities made seventy-five calls during the month of February. In the Gazette of last evening it was erroneously stated that 75 were made.

"As a matter of fact," said the lawyer for the defendant, trying to be sarcastic, "you were scared half to death, and don't know whether it was a motor-car or something resembling a motor-car that hit you." "It resembled one all right," the plaintiff made answer. "I was forcibly struck by the resemblance."

A Real Flesh Builder For Thin People

A New Discovery.

Thin men and women—that big, hearty dining dinner you ate last night. What became of all the fat-producing nourishment it contained? You haven't gained in weight one ounce. That food passed from your body like unburned coal through an open grate. The material was there, but your food doesn't work and stick, and the plain truth is you hardly get enough nourishment from your meals to pay for the cost of cooking. This is true of thin folks the world over. Your nutritive organs, your functions of assimilation, are sadly out of gear and need reconstruction. Cut out the foolish foods and funny sawdust diets. Omit the flesh-cream rub-ons. Cut out everything but the meals you are eating now and eat with every one of those single Sargol tablets. In two weeks note the difference. Five to eight good solid pounds of healthy, "stay there" fat should be the net result. Sargol charges your weak, stagnant blood with millions of fresh new red blood corpuscles—gives the blood the carrying power to deliver every ounce of fat-making material in your food to every part of your body. Sargol, too, mixes with your food and prepares it for the blood in easily assimilated form. Thin people gain all the way from 10 to 25 pounds a month, while Sargol tablets are a solid, safe combination of six of the best flesh-producing elements known to chemistry. They come 40 tablets to a package, are pleasant, harmless, and inexpensive. All druggists in Janesville and vicinity sell them subject to an absolute guarantee of weight increase or money back. "And the greatest truth ever told in all the world. Come in, Helena Emory. Come into my quiet home. Alas, as you know, you have come into my heart."

She now was in the room. I closed the door and sprang the catch.

"At last," said I, "you are in my power!" And I bent upon her the piercing gaze of my eagle eye.

"I don't quite understand."

"Shall I call Jimmy to explain? He called you a heartless jade!"

"The little imp! How dare he!" she cried.

"As in fact all of our brotherhood has come to call you 'the heartless jade.'"

"I made fudges for him! And the little wretch told me I wasn't playing the game! What did he mean? Oh, Harry, I wouldn't have come if I hadn't wanted to play the game fairly. I'm sorry for what I said." She spoke now suddenly, impulsively.

"What was it you said?"

"When I said—when I called you—a coward. I didn't mean it."

"You said it."

"But not the way you thought. I only meant you took an unfair advantage of a girl, running off with her this way and giving her no chance to—"

CHAPTER XXIII.

In Which Is an Armistice With Fate.

"JIMMY!" I heard a clear voice calling along the deck. No answer, and Jimmy raised a hand to command silence of me also.

"Jimme-e-e!" It was Helena's voice and nearer along the rail. "Here's the fudges! Now, where can the little nuisance have gone? Jim?"

"Here I am, auntie," replied the little nuisance as she now approached the door of our cabin, and he brushed past me and started not aft, but toward the bows. "And there you are!" he shouted over his shoulder in cryptic speech, whether to me or to his Auntie Helen I could not say.

"You have sent for me?" she said at last, still standing as she was. A faint smile—part in humor, part in timidity.

"At last," said I, "you are in my power!"

to get away. But now you do give me a chance—you meant to all along—and in every way, as I've just done, telling auntie, you've been perfectly fine, perfectly splendid, perfectly bully too! It has been a hard place for a man, too, but—Harry, dear boy, I'll have to say it, you've been some considerable gentleman through it all! There now!"

"Thank you, Helena," I said.

"And as to your being any other sort of coward—that you had physical fear, that you wouldn't do a man's part—why, I never did mean that at all. How could I? And if I had—why, even Auntie Lucinda said your going out after that Chinaman the other night was heroic, even if he couldn't have cooked a bit, and you know Auntie Lucinda has always been against you."

"Yes, and you both called me a coward because I quit my law office and ran away from misfortune."

"Yes, we did. And I meant that too! I say it now to your face, Harry. But maybe I don't know all about that—"

"Maybe not."

"Well, I wouldn't want to be unjust, of course, but I don't think a man ought to throw away his life. You're young. You could start over again, and you ought to have tried. Your father made his own money, and so did my father. Why, look at the Sally M. mine that has given me my own fortune. Do you suppose that grew on a bush to be shaken off? So why couldn't you go out in the same way and do something in the world? I don't mean just make money, you know, but do something. That's what a girl likes. And you were able enough. You are young and strong, and you have your education, and I've heard my father say before he died—and other men agreed with him—that you were the best lawyer at our bar and that you had an extraordinary mind and a clear sense of justice, and—"

"But with all my fine qualities of mind and heart," said I, "I lost all when I lost my money!"

"What do you mean?"

"I'll tell you what I mean—you dropped me because you thought me poor. Well, I don't blame you. It takes money to live, and you deserved all that the world can give. I don't blame you. There were other men in the world for you. The trouble with me was that there was no other woman in the world for me. All our trouble—all our many meetings and partings—have come out of those two facts."

"Did you think that of me?" she asked at length slowly. I suppose she was pale, but I could not see.

"I certainly did. How could I think anything else?"

"Harry!" she half-whispered. "Why, Harry, Harry!"

"Admit that you did!" I exclaimed bitterly. "And let me start from that as a premise. Listen! If you were a man and loved a woman and she chucked you when you lost your money, do you think you'd break your neck to make any more success in the world after that? Why should you? Why does a man work? It's for a home, for the sake of power and mostly for the sake of the game."

"Yes."

"And I could play that game. I can play it now and win at it any time I like. I quit it not because I was afraid of the game. It's the easiest thing in the world to make money if that's all you really want to do. That's all your father wanted or mine, and it was easy. I can play that game. But why? Ah, if it were to win a quiet home, the woman I loved, independence, usefulness, contentment—yes! But when all those stakes were out of the game, Helena, I didn't care to play it any more. And that was why you thought I ran away. I did run away—from myself and you."

She was silent now and perhaps paler, I could not see.

"And if you don't think me able and disposed to play a man's part in the world you oughtn't to care a copper for me. That is plain, isn't it?"

"Yes, quite plain."

"And the fact that you did and that you do has nothing to do with it, nothing in the world, has it, Helena?"

"No." She must have been very pale, though I could not tell.

"Therefore, as logic shows us, my dear, and because we never did get our premises straight, and so never will get our conclusions straight, either, we don't belong together and never can come together, can we?"

"No." I could barely hear her whisper. "No. And that is why, just before you came, I was trying to pull myself together and to advance as best an unhappy devil may upon chaos and the dark. And that's all I see ahead, Helena, without you—chaos and the dark."

"It was all you saw that night in the little boat," she said after a time. "Yet you went?"

"Oh, yes, but that was different."

"Is this all, Harry?" she said, and moved toward the door.

"Yes, my dear; it is all—but all the rest."

Her color must have risen, for I saw dimly that she raised both her hands to her bosom, her throat. Thus the heartless jade stood, her head drooped, unable to meet the piercing gaze of my eagle eye.

There came a faint scratching at the door, a little whimpering whine.

"It is Partial, my dog, come after you," said I bitterly. "He knows you are here. He never has done that way for me. He loves you."

"He knows you are here, and he loves you," said she. "That is why things come and scratch at doors where rubans live."

I lunged open the door. "Partial," said I, "come in, and choose between us."

As to the first part of my speech, the invitation to enter, Partial obeyed with a rush; as to the second, the admonition, he apparently could not obey at all. In his poor dumb brute affliction, lack of human speech, he stood, after saluting us both, alternately and equally, hesitant between us, wagging, whining and gazing, knowing full well somewhat was wrong between us, grieving over us, beseeching us, but certainly not choosing between us.

"You know I do," she said, and I felt her arms about my neck.

"Give him time," said I hoarsely.

"He loves you more and is merely polite to me."

"Give him time," said she bitterly.

"He loves you more, and you don't deserve it."

But Partial would not choose.

"He wants us both, Helena," said I at last. "He has wiped out logic, premises, conclusions, cause and effect, horse, cart and all. He wants us both! He wants a quiet home and independence, Helena, and usefulness and contentment. Ah, my God!"

She reached down and put a hand on his head, but he only looked from one to the other of us, unhappy.

"Don't you love me, Helena?" I asked quietly, after a time. "For the sake of my dog, can you not love me?"

She continued stroking the head of the agonized Partial. And until, somewhat inarticulately, I had choked or spoken, and had caught her dark hair against my cheek and kissed her hair and stammered in her ear, and turned her cheek and her lips many, many times, Partial held his peace and issued no decision—at least, I did not hear him.

She was gobbling now, her head on my shoulder, as we sat on the locker seat, and Partial's head was on the cushion beside us, and he was silent and overjoyed and tranquilly happy, seeing perhaps that a quiet home would in the event be his and that he was going to live happy ever after.

And after I drew Helena's head closer to my face I kissed her hair.

"Do you love me, Helena?" I asked.

"Only the truth now, in God's name!"

"You know I do," she said, and I felt her arms about my neck.

"Have you, always?"

"I think so, yes. It seems always."

"We have been cruel to each other."

"Yes, we are cruel now."

"How now?"

"You make me say I love you, and yet—"

"You will marry me—right away, soon, Helena, as I am—poor, ragged, without a cent—only myself?"

"Not here," she smiled.

"At Edouard Manning's, at once, as soon as we get in."

"It is duresa. I am in the power of a rufian band. Is it fair? Are you sure I know my mind?"

"I am sure only that I know my own. Tell, what was in that note I carried addressed to you varlet Davidson?"

"Sealed orders!"

"And how does that affect me, Helena? Tell me—I know you love me, and you know that all the rest is small to that, but as to that wedding part of it, Helena—what do you say?"

She hesitated for an instant. "You want me to—come—to come with honor, as you do?"

"Yes. I'll take any risk that means life to you."

"Will you take sealed orders too?"

"Yes."

"Turn on the lights."

HOW TO PREVENT ACID STOMACHS AND FOOD FERMENTATION

By a Stomach Specialist.

As a specialist who has spent many years in the study and treatment of stomach troubles, I have been forced to the conclusion that most people who complain of stomach trouble possess stomachs that are absolutely healthy and normal, but that some food which causes all the pain and difficulty is excessive acid in the stomach, aggravated by food fermentation. Hypertonic food fermentation causes the stomach and food fermentation causes the stomach to become acid, and this acid, in turn, causes the stomach to become normal, causing that full bloated feeling. Thus both acid and fermentation interfere with and retard the process of digestion. The stomach is usually healthy and normal, but irritated almost past endurance by these foreign elements—acid and wind. In all such cases—acid and wind—the stomach is irritated and the fermentation by taking in a little warm or cold water immediately after eating.

From one to two teaspoonfuls of blunted magnesia, which is doubtless the best and only really effective antacid and food corrector known. The acid will be neutralized and the fermentation stopped almost instantly, and your stomach will at once proceed to digest the food in a healthy, normal manner. Be sure to ask your druggist for the blunted magnesia, as I have found other forms utterly lacking in its peculiarly valuable properties.—F. J. G.—Advertisement.

Dinner Stories

The good clergyman was ministering to the needs of the inmates of a private lunatic asylum and he was especially warned against an exceedingly cross-grained, recently arrived patient.

Nothing daunted, however, the reverend gentleman entered the little room where the man was confined and began conversation with him.

"Is it true," inquired the crazy man, "that Queen Elizabeth has recently married the Sultan of Turkey?"

"Quite true," replied the visitor, bent on humoring the patient.

"And it is also true, I suppose," went on the demented one, "that Theodore Roosevelt has been elected president of the United States for the thirty-second time?"

"Quite, quite true," said the clergyman fervently.

"Ah," said the madman, rubbing his hands with glee, "and pray what may you be?"

"Oh, I am a minister of the Gospel."

"Well," said the man reflectively, "you look like a minister of the church and you may be one, but you are about the biggest blankety-blanked liar I ever met."

A quack doctor was holding forth about his "medicines" to a rural audience.

"Yes, gentlemen," he said, "I have sold these pills for over twenty-five years and never heard a word of complaint. Now what does that prove?"

Gazette Advertising Brought Christ Jensen Nearly $7,000

Auction is one of most successful this season as result of newspaper publicity.

W. T. Dooley, the auctioneer, reports one of the most successful sales of the season in the auction of Chris Jensen, on the Wyman farm north of Clinton Junction, which resulted in receipts of nearly seven thousand dollars. Fourteen head of horses brought fancy prices, thirty-three cows brought from $60 to $95. The total amount was sold in 4 hours and 40 minutes which is also remarkable.

The credit for this sale is given to Gazette auction advertising by Col. Dooley in comparing it with other sales in the same locality which were not advertised in the Gazette.

Such satisfactory results make the cost of a few advertisements in a paper of such complete distribution as the Gazette, of very small moment.

Too many save ten or fifteen dollars on advertising and lose ten times that much at the sale.

The usual size auction advertisement costs but $4 for one time, $6 for two times, $9 for three times, $12 for four, etc.

"BLACK IS WHITE" NEW SERIAL STORY

A Stirling Book With Puzzling Mystery from Beginning to End to Appear in Gazette.

To prove that black is white would be difficult, but not more difficult than for George Barr McCutcheon to write an uninteresting story. From the opening chapter to the very end, "Black is White" the new serial which will appear in the Gazette in the next several days, possesses that best of all qualities of a story—success.

Mystery and romance, in which McCutcheon loves to dabble and which he is a past master, pervade the story, which centers around this strange career of James Brood, American millionaire, disappointed, embittered, and a soldier in the fortune, whose second marriage leads to strange and unexpected developments.

When everything is black to all appearances, a series of dramatic and surprising scenes reverse the entire outlook and a twenty year domestic tragedy is transformed to future happiness for those involved.

"Black is White" is a story with the fluency and ease that has made McCutcheon's stories among the best sellers of fiction, and the Gazette feels assured that it will make no mistake in publishing it in serial form. Wait for it.

WILL CARE FOR DEAD FISH IN ROCK RIVER

Council to Take Steps to Care for Dead Fish That Have Accumulated in River and Race-Ways.

An investigation is being made by Commissioner P. J. Goodman regarding the dead fish that have accumulated in Rock river within the city limits, and a report will be made to the council at their next meeting on the method to be taken to rid the stream of the thousands of bodies. The council deem it advisable to clear the carp from the race-ways and banks before the warm weather decays their bodies and makes the stream of the city unhealthful.

To remove the carp from the upper raceway on North River street appears to be the big problem, although many thousands of them are on the banks at Monterey and in the power plant raceway. The fish would make excellent fertilizer if plowed under the soil.

The high flood waters have removed many of the dead fish but it is thought unwise to allow them to race to be sent down stream to menace other cities or farm lands.

The power plant register at the main raceway showed the water to be 32.5 inches above government mark, the highest of the year, at noon today. No serious trouble has yet been experienced, but the water men are maintaining its high level and continuing to rise slightly during the lake, few days. The ice is reported to be all out of Lake Koshkonong, but the big breaks and small streams are flooding badly.

PLAN BIG PARENTS' MEETING MARCH 13

Second Meeting to Urge Co-operation is Called Through the Request of the Fathers and Mothers.

The next parents' meeting to promote co-operation between the school and home, will be held at the high school building on Saturday evening, March 13. This is the second meeting of this kind, and is called mainly through the requests made by the parents of high school students in the city and rural districts.

The first meeting held before the holidays was a success in every particular. So interesting was the open discussion and addresses, the people attending have become enthusiastic and are demanding the next meeting.

A thousand people should be invited to the meeting with their parents. The nature of the meeting will be quite different from the previous one, inasmuch as an open house will be held.

The idea of holding an open house is to acquaint the parents with the work in the recitation rooms and with the faculty members. The faculty members will occupy their respective recitation rooms. Exhibits of the various kinds of work will be placed before the fathers and mothers for their inspection and approval. The student that accompanies his parents to the building can take them to his or her recitation room, and in this way the parents are doing just what their children are doing. The open house will be held from 7:30 until 8:30 o'clock. At 8:30 the parents and students will occupy seats in the assembly room will entertain them for a time. Open discussions will be held and short programs given.

SAGE TEA DARKENS HAIR TO ANY SHADE

Don't stay Gray! Here's an Old
Time Recipe that Anybody can Apply.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and abundant. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wreth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old recipe which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and abundant.

URIC ACID IN MEAT
CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys, and flush out the body's urinous waste get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink.

Your Piano Can Be Converted Into A PLAYER PIANO

Its appearance will only be changed by the addition of doors in the upper and lower front boards. The keyboard will remain unchanged and the instrument can be played by hand as before if you so desire.

I will install an 88-note player action in your piano and guarantee satisfaction at a very reasonable price and on easy terms. Your piano with this high grade player action installed will equal any $600.00 Player Piano on the market today.

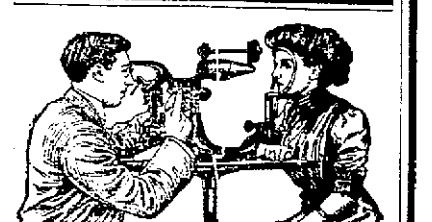

On Saturday Afternoon and Evening, in the Carpet and Rug room of the J. M. Bostwick & Sons store, (second floor) I will demonstrate one of these actions which I have installed in the piano of Carl F. Brockhaus. This Piano has been in use for 12 years and makes a very fine Player Piano.

Mr. B. K. Settergren, President of the Sonorus Player Action Company of Chicago, will be present and will be pleased to talk to any one interested in Player Pianos or Player Actions.

Don't trade away your good piano for a cheap Player Piano of inferior make when you can have a first class Player Action installed in your present Piano at small cost. 85-note Players changed to 88-note.
